

P-40 Pilots In Tunisia Are Tagged Guerrillas

(The spectacular feat of one group of P-40 fliers in knocking down 34 Nazi planes in eight days is the envy of every other Yank squadron in Tunisia. Here is the story behind their performance as written by Capt. Jay Vessels, public relations officer who formerly was an Associated Press and Minneapolis newspaperman.)

By JAY VESSELS
An American Air Base in Tunisia, April 3 (Delayed) (AP)—The combat boys on the North African front are beginning to learn firsthand—and certainly so are the Heinies—what the French meant back in the earlier days of the Tunisian battle when they tagged the P-40s "The Guerrilla Fighters."

They are beginning to know because the P-40 lads are stamping their flaming brand into Jerry's groaning carcass with a ferocity that unwaveringly sticks to the rugged tradition established by their former leader, the fiery Lieut. Colonel Philip G. Cochran, 32, of Erie, Pa.

A big part of the fighter show on the sector that became so hot when Rommel's Africa Corps made its late March bid formerly was run by Cochran. He headlined the show and his daring performances made him a legend with the French because they were the ground force mainstay and were amply qualified to know the results that the dynamic little fighter chieftain consistently obtained.

Deeds of Valor
Cochran, then a major, so inspired his men that deeds of valor were commonplace.

Now he has moved on to other work but the precedent he set is being energetically followed by his old command.

Actually it is a new type of war the old Cochran outfit is fighting but the results are primarily the same. In the old guerrilla days the P-40 boys operated on a hit and run basis. They functioned in small units. They weren't looking for combat with Jerry. They could not risk that chance with the big job they had to do and what they had to do it with.

They hedgehopped through the area smashing troop movements, supply dumps, vehicular traffic and gun concentrations. They shot up anything that moved and some things that didn't.

Aerial Classic
Their shooting aim wasn't bad, either, when it came to combat, and occasionally when the handicap was not too great they tangled with Jerry and gained great respect therefrom.

Now the old Cochran punch in a new setting has become the sensation of the Tunisian front. Superior flying plus deadly surprise tactics give them the winning margin. The present outfit is headed by Colonel William W. Momyer, 28, of Seattle, who led a recent plunger of 34 Nazi planes downed in five days by shooting down five of the planes himself. His bag of four Stukas in a single engagement is an aerial classic in itself.

2 Bag 8 Each
Another Cochran headman helping pace the current assault is Major Levi R. Chase, 25, of Cortland, N. Y., whom Cochran tabbed a "one man wave of destruction." As of April 1, Colonel Momyer and Major Chase are tied for top honors with eight Nazis each.

Others members of the old outfit now shining with new lustre include Lieut. James W. Gray, 23, of Sumnerfield, La., a crossroads storekeeper, and Lieut. Thomas A. Thomas, Jr., of Ada, Okla., a baby faced chap who vainly grew heavy whiskers to look the part of a guerrilla fighter.

Recently Jerry tangled with the outfit over the target. Two Nazis were downed on their own airport but Jerry didn't learn. He followed the P-40 lads clear back to their home base and there he did learn with regret, for the score that day was six dead Nazi pilots and everybody present and accounted for with the P-40s.

Next time the old guerrilla gang got seven, then eight and finally smashed ten German planes in a single day.

County Farmers To Increase Acreage; Appeal For Helpers

Adams County's farmers are planning to put 3,689 more acres into production this year than 1942 and increase acreage for every crop except barley, rye and tobacco.

Those figures were revealed in the preliminary report made today by the Agriculture Adjustment Administration office here to state headquarters of the A.A.A. The report covers more than 1900 farms of the county's 2,700. The community committeemen and assistants in the county-plan to continue the survey until all sections are completed. A total of 2,163 returns were made by farmers, but about 200 were incomplete. The survey has not as yet been finished in the Bendersville section of the county.

Use Idle Fields
Many of the acres put into production this year, as the county plans to meet increased farm production quotas asked by the Federal government, include land which was unavailable last year due to the extremely wet weather. Much of the increase however will come about by planting fields which have been allowed to lie fallow for years.

While farmers are planning to increase their acreage, the problem of where they will find the labor to garner the harvests has become more acute.

Many of the farmers filled the backs of pages in the questionnaire given them with requests for help from the United States Employment service and other agencies. They are going ahead with their plans to increase production, the farmers said, but they must have help if the harvest is to be gathered.

Many of the answers revealed that the county's patriotism has not been lost in modern times. Septagenarians who in recent years have been more or less retired, are planning to put their farms back into production, doing most of the work themselves, according to the questionnaires.

Need Recreation
Many of the farmers pointed out that gasoline rationing and high wages paid in industries cost them some of their best hired hands. One said that two of his best helpers quit to move to the city when they found they were unable to go anywhere on the gasoline allowance given them. "There must be some means of providing recreation for farm helpers after their 60 or 70 hours a week of work," one farmer said. He urged more gasoline for farm helpers so they "can go to (Please Turn to Page 5)

HISTORIANS SEEK IN VAIN FOR OLD DATA

Members of the Adams county Historical society at their April meeting Tuesday evening at the court house talked over old times with several older residents of the town who were present at the special invitation of the historians.

Answers were found to some of the queries from members about Gettysburg of the middle and late nineteenth century but other questions remained unanswered. The "old timers" shook their heads over such questions as "How did Stratton street get its name?" and "When was the center square 'island' established?"

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, president of the society, presided at the meeting which was held in the law library with a business session preceding the program. William C. Storrick and Edward A. Trostle, who were neighbors residing near Cavalry field at the time of the battle, were the special guests while Dr. Henry Stewart, an active member of the society, joined them in answering questions about the "good old days" in Gettysburg.

Ferry's Tavern
The location of Ferry's tavern in Gettysburg—about a century ago—was discussed and a point on Chambersburg street, east of the College Lutheran church, was settled upon as its probable site. No one could say when West York street became Chambersburg street or when Carlisle street was adopted to designate the section of "Baltimore street" north of the square.

No one knew definitely when the operation of Pfeffer's brickyard between the Taneytown and Emmitsburg road was begun but it was agreed that it operated until 30 or 40 years ago. An old pottery on Seminary ridge was recalled and there were attempts made to trace the various locations of the Gettysburg postoffice.

Doctor Stewart said his earliest knowledge of the office was at a site now occupied by Detrick Brothers' funeral home. Then it moved to its present corner, then to center square and York street. Some thought it was located on the square at the time of the battle but others agreed it was located at the present site of the Kadel building on Baltimore street.

Carriage Industry
Middle street was described as the center of the carriage industry that flourished here until the Civil war and continued in a greatly reduced volume until 30 years ago when Troxell's shop on Middle street closed. Mrs. E. S. Lewars said she had been told that two carriages (Please Turn to Page 2)

Nephew Of Dr. Crist Killed In Africa

Sergeant Jack Crist, Plainfield, New Jersey, has been killed in action in the African campaign, according to word received this afternoon by his uncle, Dr. C. G. Crist, Chambersburg street.

Sergeant Crist was a son of the late Dr. Chalmers L. Crist, a graduate of Gettysburg college, who died in Plainfield as a result of injuries received during the First World war. Dr. Chalmers Crist was a major in the first division of the 28th infantry, the same outfit to which Sergeant Jack Crist was attached.

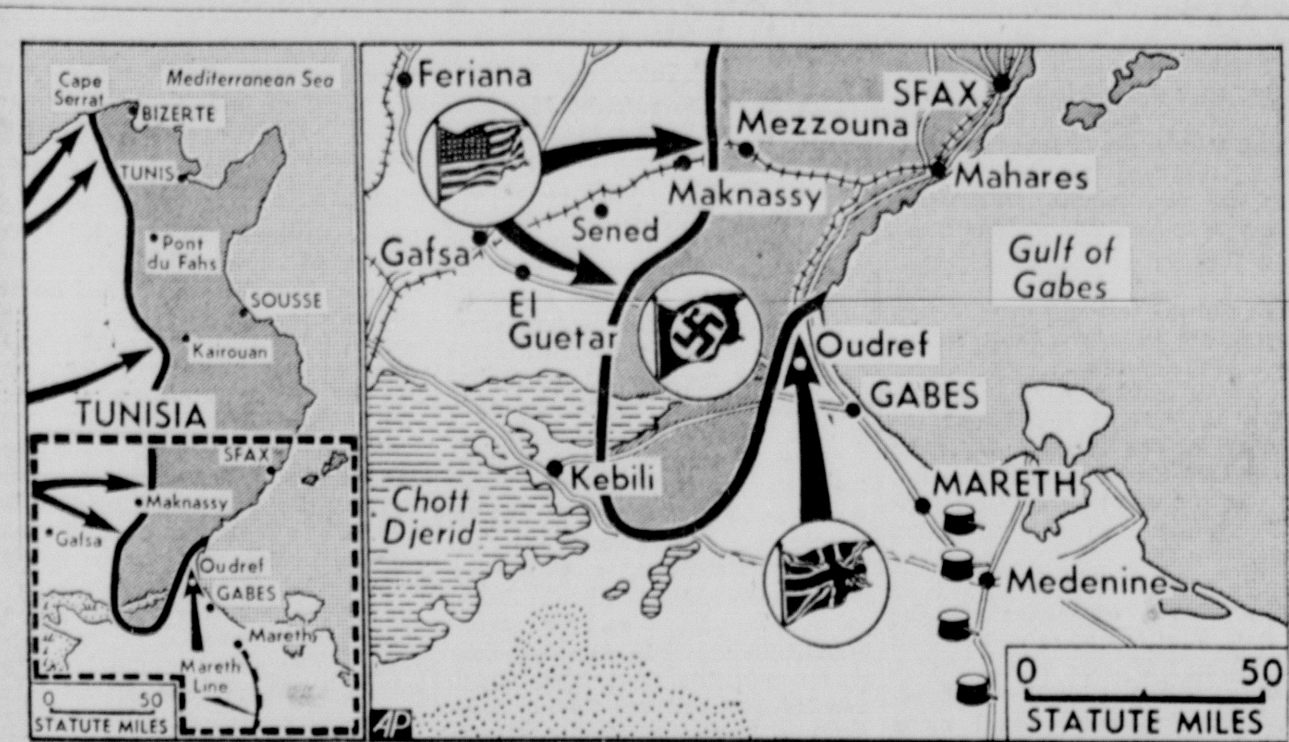

Sergeant Crist was a frequent visitor to Gettysburg and had a number of friends here. His latest visit was during the maneuvers in the south last summer. He visited with Dr. Crist here while his outfit was passing through town.

He is survived by his mother at Plainfield and a brother Welsh Crist, who is a member of the U. S. army at Florida.

BURGESS AND COUNCIL WILL ATTEND PLAY

Pfeffer and members of the Gettysburg town council, and their wives, have accepted invitations to be guests of "The Show Committee" of the 55th College Training Detachment at Gettysburg college at the presentation of "An Air Cadet Candidate's Dream" in the Eddie Plank gymnasium Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

An invitation has been extended to the townspeople to be guests at the play on Friday evening and special invitations were extended to the Burgess and to the members of town council through its president, H. M. Oyler. Another invitation was extended to Judge and Mrs. Sheely.

In his acceptance Burgess Pfeffer wrote the committee:

"I want to congratulate you upon your gentlemanly conduct and gracious manner. You have made a decided impression upon this community and I can assure you that we are looking forward to high deeds of accomplishments in your splendid service to your country."

Predicts Allied Victory
President Oyler, replying for members of council wrote:

"It is a pleasure to have such a splendid group of young men in Gettysburg. While we abhor the exigencies of war we nevertheless appreciate the contribution you young men are making toward the eventual successful completion of the conflict and the ultimate peace it will bring to the entire world."

Judge Sheely wrote:
"Your detachment has made a most favorable impression upon the people of this community and we are glad to have you with us. We want to do everything possible to make your stay in Gettysburg pleasant and we sincerely appreciate your courtesy in inviting us to your play." The play is open to the public of Gettysburg on Friday and on Saturday it will be repeated for the college faculty and student body.

Yank Forces Help Squeeze "Desert Fox"

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, April 7 (AP)—

The British Eighth army has broken through the Axis Hill and Wadi defenses north of Gabes, and American troops have mopped up Germans on the Djebel Maizila, north of Maknassy, and advanced east of El Guetar in a coordinated squeeze of Marshal Erwin Rommel, latest reports from the front said today.

Take 6,000 Prisoners

Seizing two high hills which dominated the new defenses along the Wadi El Akarit, 20 miles north of Gabes, the British held these strong points through violent German counterattacks after a breakthrough behind a heavy artillery barrage and an Allied headquarters communique said they captured 6,000 prisoners, mostly Italians.

(Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the House of Commons in London that British armor had reached open country yesterday after taking all the key positions in the Wadi El Akarit line, and that Rommel was retreating northward with Montgomery in "hot pursuit.")

(Six thousand Axis prisoners had been captured, he said, after an artillery preparation from 500 guns, a concentration about equal to that which opened the El Alamein battle in Egypt last October.)

"Fighting continues in the El Guetar sector" where Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., second American army corps is pressing Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces in a narrow box, between the mountains and the sea, the communique continued.

The furious Allied air attack continued apace with the intense land activities. Mitchell medium bombers, Boston attack bombers and fighters made repeated assaults on La Fauconneirre airfield northwest of Sfax and other landing grounds and swept all along the front.

Six Ships Sunk
In another fierce foray against Axis shipping in the Sicilian straits six enemy ships were sunk from a convoy and an ammunition ship blown up.

Flying Fortresses, in another battle during the bombing of a convoy off Bizerte, shot down 15 enemy fighters, the war bulletin said.

Tunis in Tunisia and Trapani in Sicily were heavily attacked by Wellingtons and medium and fighter-bombers. Bombs were seen to burst on the docks, the communique said.

Altogether 27 enemy aircraft were reported destroyed yesterday, compared with a loss of five Allied machines.

This brought to 79 the two-day toll of enemy aircraft taken by Allied airpower in the African theater.

Besides the seven ships accounted for out of one convoy, many other ships "of all classes" were sunk or severely damaged by the "heavy and very successful" attack at Trapani, the communique said.

Among enemy planes shot down were four Italian torpedo bombers which attempted to attack Allied shipping off the Algerian coast.

(Axis communique quickly acknowledged that Gen. Montgomery's offensive was under way again after heavy artillery bombardments.

"Fighting is in full swing," the German communique broadcast by the Berlin radio said.

AXIS LOST LAST STRONG POST IN SOUTH TUNISIA

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

General Montgomery's smashing new victory, as disclosed by British Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons today, would seem to have deprived the fleeing Rommel of the last strong Axis position in southern Tunisia.

Mr. Churchill is an able reporter and a grand announcer. Let's hope he doesn't lose his voice.

What has happened is that Montgomery has driven Rommel from the powerful defenses of the Wadi El Akarit, a gorge-like valley about twenty miles north of the port of Gabes. This feat was achieved by the hell-for-leather British Eighth Army in hand-to-hand fighting after a terrific artillery and aerial bombardment of enemy positions.

Prisoners Pouring In

At latest reports Rommel's heels were flashing up the coast, with Montgomery in hot pursuit. Axis prisoners were pouring into the British rear, and there could be no doubt that heavy casualties were being inflicted on the fleeing forces.

It seems like yesterday—and in fact it's only a few weeks ago—that I sat with Montgomery in his caravan in the Libyan desert and heard him describe Rommel as a great soldier, but one who would be beaten.

Last Natural Stronghold

The Nazi marshal would seem to be getting close to the end of his rope, but we shouldn't jump to the conclusion that there won't be more fierce fighting in Tunisia. His latest defeat is a particularly grave one, because it puts him out in the open to run the gauntlet in an effort to make a junction with his colleague, General Von Arnim, in the far north.

The Wadi El Akarit was a strong position which Rommel had prepared in advance as a second defense behind the Mareth line. However, this Wadi, or deep valley, is about the last of such natural positions along the central coastal area of Tunisia until you get in the vicinity of the port of Sousse.

Without Hope

Thus while Rommel undoubtedly has prepared positions for just such a contingency, there is no indication that he has any place which approaches the strength of the Wadi which he now has been forced to flee. This being so, his army will be compelled to fight more or less in the open coastal plain, and to offer a terrific bombing from massed Allied warplanes.

Countian Takes Part In "Skip Bombing"

Sgt. Edward K. Klunk, believed to be the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lloyd Klunk, Hanover R. 4, near Centennial, was a member of American bomber crews participating in a low level "skip bombing" attack March 31 on enemy shipping, according to an Associated Press dispatch from the Allied headquarters in North Africa.

The attack, in which the crews had been specially trained before leaving this country, was officially credited with the destruction of one enemy troop ship and two merchant vessels in a sea sweep by B-25 Mitchells. One Mitchell was shot down by the convoy's escort of German fighters but all except one member of the six-man crew escaped in a rubber raft and walked through the German lines in Tunisia to safety, it was reported.

SOVIETS BLOCK NAZI ASSAULT

London, April 7 (AP)—New German attempts to storm Russian positions south of Izyum, on the Donets river, have been hurled back by the Red army, with almost two companies of German infantry wiped out by Russian artillery, trench mortar and machine gun fire, the Soviet midday communique announced today.

This was in the area where the Russian midnight communique said that a strong Russian counterattack had driven the Germans from a favorable position.

Northward on the winding Donets, southeast of Kharkov, an enemy tank attack was repulsed and Soviet guns destroyed a number of German pillboxes and the men holding them, the noon war bulletin said.

On the Smolensk front Soviet artillery smashed 10 trucks in a supply column, it was said.

Soviet patrols were active in a raid west of Rostov where an ammunition dump was blown up and enemy equipment captured, it was declared.

On the Volkhov front, a German-occupied area lying southeast of Leningrad and northeast of Staraya Russa, the Russians said that two groups of attacking Germans were thrown back with big losses in one sector, and that Red army fire power silenced enemy artillery and mortar guns in another sector.

made here were sold to Robert E. Lee before the Civil war. Most of the carriages made here were sold in the South before the war, it was stated.

The picturesque four-to-six seater battlefield hacks used to carry tourists over the field before the day of automobiles also were made here, it was developed, and Doctor Fortenbaugh asked if anyone knew of the existence of any of the old hacks at the present time. One was said to have been sold near New Chester a year ago but its whereabouts now was not known.

The tannery industry here was discussed and Doctor Stewart listed sites of three local tanneries while Mrs. V. W. S. Duttera stated that there were once 76 tanneries in Adams county. The hat industry was discussed and one member recalled that silk beaver toppers once were made here.

Origin of Names

Information was sought without success on the origin of such names as Gargol (near Idaville), Stone Jug and Black Horse tavern. Local springs, the first reservoir and the wooden pipes laid by the first local water company—some of which were laid by T. J. Winebrenner and in use today—were described.

The Huber and Welty (now the Duttera and Toth) homes were standing north of the Jennie Wade house along Baltimore street, it was developed, and both carry battle scars.

Reference was made during the meeting to a 1927 copy of The Gettysburg Compiler in which were published recollections of the late Major Calvin Gilbert of Gettysburg as it was at the time of the battle. The occasion for the publication was Mr. Gilbert's eighty-eighth birthday anniversary.

During the business session Doctor Fortenbaugh named Miss Louise Brinkerhoff to the necrology committee to take the place of G. Kenneth Newbold and named J. Harry Sinner chairman of the county history committee to succeed Miss Alice Black who continues as a member of the committee.

Old Newspapers

Receipt of a membership in the county society from the York county Historical society was announced and Treasurer H. T. Stauffer said there are now 27 members in the society.

Dr. Frederick Tilberg announced the receipt of a collection of old county newspapers dating from 1810 to about 1870 from Montfort Melchior of Girard college, an alumnus of Gettysburg college.

Mr. Storrick has presented to the society a complete list of the Memorial Day speakers in Gettysburg since the Rev. James A. Brown, then head of the seminary, spoke in 1868. A complete list of the National cemetery superintendents was attached together with other historical information concerning the cemetery. The society accepted all of the gifts with an expression of appreciation.

Seek Paintings

Mrs. Lewars appealed for information on the location of paintings by the late David Forney, Charles Morris Young and Lytton Buehler as Gettysburg artists of note. She said she hopes to compile a list of the paintings of these men. Mrs. Mary K. McClean announced that she has in her possession a portrait of her father which was done by David Forney. Mrs. Lewars reminded the historians that ancestors of the noted artist, Fred Waugh, came from near Fairfield.

It was suggested that rare old maps of the borough and county should be repaired, copied and preserved.

Doctor Fortenbaugh reported that the museum and display rooms being prepared by the county commissioners in the court house basement for the society are nearly completed.

Bayonet Fighting And Ju-Jitsu To Be Popular Sports After War, Herrmann Says

WILL OUTDRAW WRESTLING AND BOXING AT GATE

Philadelphia, April 7 (AP)—Bayonet fighting and ju-jitsu will be all the rage as spectator sports after the war, drawing bigger crowds than professional boxing and wrestling, William J. Herrmann said today.

And Herrmann, scion of four generations of physical culturists, ought to know. For 150 years before him his family made a neat living by catering to the whims of sports devotees here and in Europe, and Herrmann himself, a former U. S. fencing and middleweight professional wrestling champion, has operated a public gymnasium here for 45 years.

"After the first war wrestling was all the rage," he said, "and after this war it will be bayonet fighting and ju-jitsu that people will pay to see—the kind of close combat that the Marines are making famous. We put on a ju-jitsu show at the Stage Door Canteen the other day, and it absolutely brought down the house."

Bayonet fighters, Herrmann said, will use the same protective equipment that fencers now use, and there will be strict ju-jitsu rules to keep professionals from breaking each other's necks, figuratively and literally.

As evidence of the increasing interest in the Japanese specialty, Herrmann cited the experience of one of his instructors after the canteen show.

"The servicemen there got so interested they asked him to try holds on them," he said. "There wasn't any mat, but they just forgot about it and let themselves get tossed around on the hard floor."

Herrmann, now 73 years old, taught close combat fighting to the Marines in the last war. He was a captain and major and served under Col. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, now giving the same Marine instruction again.

Wilmington, Del.—Connie Mack says he is going to use his pitchers in relays and doesn't mind if not a single one is able to go nine innings—as long as the Philadelphia A's win. He has numerous hurlers but his best veterans are Lum Harris, Roger Wolf and Russ Christopher.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, April 7 (AP)—Horse race bettors who have been enjoying an enforced vacation for a few days will have a fresh lot of horses to put their money on when the eastern season opens tomorrow.

Most of the southern favorites have reached Jamaica yet, and Narragansett, which opens Saturday, has only about half as many nags as usual. . . . The reason—transportation. . . . Shanty Hogan will manage the ball team and Rabbit Maranville will coach at the Fore River, Mass., shipyard where they're both working. And between them they'll probably drown out all the riveters. . . . Al Buck is back covering the fight and horse race beats for the N. Y. Post after being discharged from the Army because of age.

NO. 1 FAN
One reason why all good ball players seem to wind up at the Norfolk naval station is Capt. H. A. McClure, commanding officer at the base. . . . He's the only non-player allowed to sit on the bench; he's the first one to congratulate anyone who socks a homer and the other day when Dom DiMaggio tumbled over the fence chasing a fly, the captain jumped into the nearest car and whizzed out to see if he was hurt.

SHORTS AND SHELLS
The Dodgers recently asked the Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic conference for a list of high school coaches they could contact for names of boys eligible for a summer training camp. The conference turned down the request. . . . Arturo Godoy is all set to come to the United States after he fights Pernando Menichelli in Santiago, Chile, April 24. . . . That Louisville company that makes the bats for big league baseballers is turning out a side line of policemen's billes. Maybe the umps could use a few. . . . Young T. Stribling, son of the former boxer, is a promising sprinter at a Macon, Ga., high school. . . . Frenchy Bordagaray, who once vowed the Dodgers with his whippers, will be one of the "Battling Beavers" who play against them in a movie that's being shot at Ebbe's field.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Henry Vance, Birmingham, (Ala.) Age-Herald: "Any ball player who has 12 kids, lumberago and a couple of arches on the verge of falling will be pretty much in demand. Bill McKeechie, Sr., may be calling the venerable Ray Star 'kid' before they ever find out who is to be queen of the May this year."

BLANK NIGHT
Colleague Lou Black reports that a New Haven, Conn., movie theater put on a boxing card on the stage one night to plug a fight picture and turned the customers away. But when boxing was revived in the New Haven arena a short time later, after a six months lapse, the fans stayed away in droves. . . . Now the fight promoters are wondering whether to book a movie with the next card.

SERVICE DEPT.
Tommy Loughran is touting Phil De Angelis, one of the physical training instructors at the Parris Island, S. C., Marine base, as a coming welterweight champion. . . . Report from St. Louis is that ex-Cardinal Terry Moore is due to be elevated to a lieutenantancy when he gets back to Panama. . . . Lieut. Joel Hunt, former Georgia and Wyoming grid coach and Cardinal farm hand, has been transferred from Gowan Field, Idaho, to the Topeka, Kas., Army Air Base, where a big baseball program is planned. . . . Although the Fort Sill, Okla., artillerymen cleaned up in the state amateur boxing tournament, which was held right on the post, the four-night tourney drew only about 2,000 spectators a night at 50 cents a head. . . . Lieut. Larry Lougee, former Dartmouth athlete now a ski trooper at Camp Hale, Colo., reports that if they're still up there after the snow leaves a lot of the boys are planning to pan for gold. The mountains thereabouts are pock-marked with old diggings.

HARRIS GETTING "TERRIFIC KICK" OUT OF PHILLIES

Hershey, Pa., April 7 (AP)—This probably sounds like a guy cheering the arrival of his mother-in-law, but Stanley R. Harris is getting "a terrific kick" out of managing the Phillies.

It could be that Bucky's thrill comes from the knowledge that he definitely has escaped from Bobo Newsom, because at his request, Bill Cox, the Phils' new owner, turned thumbs down when Branch Rickey wanted to trade him the big wind from Hartsville, South Carolina. Bucky admits that when Bobo could pitch, there was at least a reason to put up with him, "but now that he can't pitch much any more, well—"

Or it could be that the bang Bucky gets comes from getting away from the Washington Senators, which could hardly be called a manager's Garden of Eden, with or without apple trees. Yet, jumping from the Nats to the Phillies would appear to be something like making a choice between wearing tight shoes or just having your toes pinched with a pair of pliers.

"From the Ground Up"
"Don't kid yourself," Bucky replies to this. "Nothing much has changed down at Washington this spring. It's still the same old thing—which is no situation to start waving the flags about."

"That's the reason I'm getting such a bang out of this new job here. This is strictly a 'new faces' show. I have a chance to build a ball club from the ground up."

Won't Predict
"Of course, we still need a lot more than we have, but no one can say the Phils aren't improved. And we have several promising youngsters, particularly those young pitchers, Al Gerheuser and Jack Kraus, the southpaws, and Charlie Fuchs, the right-hander from Detroit." Bucky won't make any predictions, but at least he has a collection of ball players with more git-up-and-go than the Phils have shown in a long piece. That, alone, ought to boost them a little over their 42-games-won record of last year.

PUC WALKS OUT ON BEAMISH AT OPEN HEARING

Harrisburg, April 7 (AP)—Richard J. Beamish, center of a dispute over his right to serve on the Public Utility commission, appeared at a PUC open hearing Tuesday to insist on his right to participate but the examiner called a recess before Beamish started to speak.

Jay H. Eisenman, examiner for the hearing involving rates of the Pennsylvania Power and Light company, announced the hearing would adjourn for a half-hour as soon as Beamish appeared in the chamber. Beamish, however, made this statement although no members of the commission were present:

"I, Richard J. Beamish, a commissioner of the Public Utility Commission who has conducted a number of these hearings, do here and now designate my right to participate as a commissioner in these hearings and do protest that by the action of one man, (PUC chairman) John Siggins, Jr., I have been deprived of my rights incident to my office. I state for the record that I am ready, willing and legally entitled to fulfill them."

Threatens Force
Later Beamish and Siggins met in the PUC executive offices and Siggins asked Beamish "do you want me to use force?" Beamish replied "that's strictly up to you." Beamish's term expired March 31 but he insists his commission entitled him to serve until his successor is qualified. The Legislature has passed a law denying any commissioner authority to serve beyond expiration of his term.

ALLENTOWN SEEKS COACH
Allentown, Pa., April 7 (AP)—Central Catholic high school, looking for a new all-sports coach, conferred at length last night with Elwood "Woody" Ludwig, athletic director at Shamokin high school, but no announcement of any agreement was made. Neither Leo Crowe, basketball coach, nor John Cavalier football mentor, will return to Central Catholic next fall.

NEAR PERFECTION
Philadelphia, April 7 (AP)—Jack Affanatta missed a perfect 300 game in a league bowling match last night on his final roll. The 3, 6 and 10 pins remained standing, and leaving him a 297 score.

EXHIBITION BASEBALL
(By The Associated Press)
Yesterday's Results
Pittsburgh (N); 5; Cleveland, 3. Chicago (N); 7; Cincinnati (N); 2. New York (N); 23; Fort Hancock, 0 (5 innings).

You May Never Have To Take Another Laxative

Most constipated people might be as regular as clock-work—if they would only quit worrying—stop being nervous—take more exercise—watch their diet—and get up mornings an hour or so earlier to give bowels time to act. But who can or wants to do all this?

So—the next best thing is to keep the bowels working as regularly and comfortably as we can—and that's where good old Espatols come in. Why? Because you may take Espatols at night and expect results in the morning when you get up without waiting around—because they do not move the bowels so violently as to leave you feeling weak and washed-out. . . . AND because they help give the grand, comfortable, satisfying type of movement that makes the spirits soar—and what sour, constipated person could ask for more! Get Espatols at your drugist today and take as directed, 25c.

Rubber Plant Strike Breaks; Men At Work

Pittsburgh, April 7 (AP)—The 1,600 striking laborers helping build the government's synthetic rubber plant at Kobuta, in Beaver county, began returning to their jobs today after a two-day walkout, Michael Finn, conciliator of the labor production division of the WPB, announced.

Finn said demands for wage increases of ten cents an hour from the present scale of 80 to 85 cents will be considered at a conference in Washington later this week.

The Koppers United company, contractors, had announced it favored action by the government to grant the men's demands that their pay be raised.

AT HOME AND AFAR

How far away is war today?
On every little street I'd say:
Across the road—no footstep more—
Around the block and just next door!

Those battle zones this moment are
In every home where there's a star.

Somewhere within a fox hole low
On duty stays a boy I know
And at this moment far at sea
Some lads I know on watch must be.
Somewhere my neighbor's son on high
Takes wings, perhaps for me, to die.

New Zealand far away? Oh no!
It seemed to be a year ago,
But now it's down the street, I swear,
My neighbor's boy is stationed there.
We know his mother and can tell
When she has heard that all is well.

The boys have gone to war, we say,
I do not like it told that way,
For war is something all must share
'Tis here at home as well as there
And those with sons and those with none
Are in the battles, all and one.

WE'RE JUST HUMAN LINKS

It has taken this worldwide tragic war to impress upon the minds of us all how really important is every human being. We are learning that each one of us is a link in a great chain, or series of chains, in which each link is important.

Many of the most heroic deeds in this war have been performed by low commissioned officers and privates, proving their value and valor in the chain of the department where they serve. A fine American officer in the South Pacific remarked to a newspaper man that he had under him such a fine bunch of "kids," as he termed them, that he was always tempted to go into battle himself ahead rather than ask them to go in first. Three days later he was killed.

The heroism of the boys in this war, who are defending the freedom of the world, is beyond all praise in words. They are all heroes when put to the test. They go to form the chain of strength that is to bring about final and complete victory.

Never were people so important for their own sakes as now! We don't have to hunt for some job to do that is going to help bring about peace and security, the jobs are hunting each of us. And the stronger we are as individual links, the stronger the whole becomes.

We shouldn't worry about how important we are. We should just keep in mind that we are important, and see how greatly we can increase our value right where we are.

I have just finished reading "Guadalcanal Diary" by Eddie Tregaskis. Then I read "Eddie" Rickabaugh's brief book. These books should be read by every liberty loving human being. The sacrifices being borne by those who fight in the front lines are beyond description in words. I can't see where our sacrifices compare, excepting that they are infinitesimal as to theirs. There are no weak links in their loyalty, devotion, and courage.

Every citizen is a vital link in the carrying on of free government. So that voting, serving in any form of governmental work, paying of taxes, and adhering to every rationing asked of us, becomes a privilege, rather than a hardship. We are just human links—and the great chain must have no weak links in it anywhere!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Heritage of Childhood."

World population has increased from an estimated 1,000,000,000 in 1845 to about 1,900,000,000.

Hutchison - Wible—A very pretty wedding took place at the Wible home on the Emmitsburg Road, Saturday evening when Rosa Jane Wible, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wible, was married to Arthur E. Hutchison.

The bride was attended by her sister, Frances, and given away by her brother, Charles. The bridegroom's attendant was Earl Denrick. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Hutchison, of New Cumberland.

The bridegroom is a member of the firm operating the H. and H. Machine shop. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hutchison, of West High street.

Tear Down Property: The building on Chambersburg street adjoining the First National Bank is being razed to make way for a new front for the National Garage. The Spangler restaurant has been moved to the property formerly owned by George W. Spangler and lately bought by John Spangler.

Four Get Diplomas: The annual commencement exercises of the Fairfield High School were held on Friday evening, when four graduates received their diplomas. Elect Manager for Factories: M. C. Jones, of Hanover, was on Wednesday evening elected manager of both the Reaser and Gettysburg furniture factories to succeed the late Clayton S. Reaser. The board of directors of the two concerns met separately. Mr. Jones has been manager of the Hanover Cabinet Company since 1910.

Mr. Jones is not a stranger in Gettysburg. When the Reaser Furniture Company was formed in 1907 he was its chief bookkeeper, a position he held for several years afterward. Mr. Jones is a young man, not yet having reached his thirty-second birthday.

The Gettysburg Furniture Company on Wednesday elected Arthur H. Reaser, of York, as its president, to succeed C. S. Reaser. The new president is a heavy stockholder in the concern.

Biglerville set the pace for all the other Adams County towns by raising its quota of $16,140 the first day.

Saturday evening's events in Gettysburg composed a fitting celebration of the first anniversary of America's entrance into the great war. The exercises in the Square were attended by hundreds of people, patriotism ran high and the program was a complete success.

Dr. Granville presided at the ceremonies. The large flag was raised to the top of the pole by Miss Bernice Strassbaugh, daughter of E. F. Strassbaugh, who donated the flagstaff. Rev. Paul Reid Pontius made the principal address.

In the Court House later, C. E. Stahle, Esq., presided.

$4,000,000 Cut In Teacher Salary Increase Bill Predicted

HIGHER PAID TEACHERS WILL BE HARDEST HIT

Harrisburg, April 7 (AP)—A $4,000,000 cut in the House approved bill calling for $26,776,000 in biennial raises for school teachers was predicted by a Republican legislative leader today as the Senate education committee arranged to meet next week to discuss the measure.

The leader said that he believed the bill will have to be amended to call for approximately $22,000,000 in pay increases and asserted teachers in the higher pay brackets—those earning $2,500—would be hit hardest by the amendment.

Telegrams from teachers in all parts of the state flooded the Senate protesting that biennial raises of from $200 to $600 do not meet the recognized need. The messages, most of them carrying the same text, will total 3,000, one Senator predicted.

Denies Plan Exists

The legislative leader who believes the bill will have to be amended declared the corporate net income tax change suggested by Governor Martin would bring in from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000. The chief executive wants the state levy computed before deductions are made for a similar Federal levy, instead of after.

Senator Frederick L. Homsher, chairman of the upper chamber's education committee, stated his group likely would meet Tuesday night but said he knew of no plan yet outlined to reduce the total pay jumps.

"Must Fit Appropriation"

One Republican leader declared higher paid teachers objected to being given smaller increases than those in the lower brackets and added school boards facing the problem of financing the boosts until state subsidies are received also oppose the measure.

Homsher said, however, that "we've got to ascertain how much money is available for the increases and make the bill fit the appropriation."

Tax Program Released

House committees, meantime, released for floor action legislation carrying out Governor Martin's tax program for the next two years and giving him broad powers to suspend or modify, on recommendation of the Federal government, any state laws interfering with the war program.

Approved by the House Ways and Means committee, tax measures would re-enact emergency relief taxes yielding $154,783,325 in the biennium, eliminate the mercantile license tax and reduce the gross receipts levy as part of the Administration's $44,725,000 tax reduction program.

MAYORS ASKING MORE GASOLINE

Pittsburgh, April 7 (AP)—Mayors and chamber of commerce heads from western Pennsylvania communities gathered here today to seek a means of getting their 25 counties out of the eastern gasoline rationing zone and into the four-gallon-per-coupon area.

The conference, called by the mayors of Meadville, Erie and Bradford, was precipitated by a recent OPA proposal to remove four Mercer county towns from the eastern zone where coupons are worth only a gallon and a half a week.

In the last few weeks, various groups from the western part of the state have carried petitions to Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes but all save the Mercer counties have met with refusal.

While the conference was called merely "to discuss the gasoline situation," it was indicated that a new plea to Washington would be formulated and that representatives would be named to present the arguments to Administrator Ickes.

WAR NOT OVER

Reading, Pa., April 7 (AP)—Maj. Gen. James A. Ulio, adjutant general of the United States Army, says the war will not be won in a hurry. Successes in Tunisia and the south Pacific are only the "prelude to greater campaigns which will cut the pattern of final victory," he said in an address at the close of a district convention of Rotary International yesterday.

Flashes of Life

EMBARRASSER

Houston, Tex. (AP)—The young man asked the draft board staff how soon he might be inducted. He blushed when he saw all the clerks staring at the baby in his arms.

"I'm not trying to arouse sympathy," he protested. "My wife is working and I couldn't find anyone to stay with the boy."

Butler, Pa. (AP)—A thief who sneaked into St. Paul's Catholic church and attempted to rob the poor box left empty-handed.

The pastor, the Rev. P. K. Collins, told police a chute now carried the contributions into the basement.

TOO CLOSE

Washington (AP)—A group of Charles County, Maryland, residents want the state's members of Congress to persuade the Navy to place a proposed bombing range somewhere other than in their district.

The group told Senators Tydings and Radcliffe and Rep. Sasser that there now are "three or four" Naval projects in the area and that the addition of a bombing range would be "too much."

FALSE ALARM

Boise, Idaho (AP)—Yes, beer trucks have been making deliveries at the state penitentiary.

Warden C. Van Clark wants it understood, though, that they didn't deliver beer.

Just salvaged tin cans, which the convicts wash and flatten.

CHILD'S BODY IS FOUND BURIED IN FRIEND'S CELLAR

Pittsburgh, April 7 (AP)—The partly nude body of four-year-old Theresa Williams, blonde and curly-haired, was found early today buried in the basement of a home two doors from her own.

"She was criminally attacked and murdered," asserted Police Lieutenant Michael Daugherty.

The child disappeared about 4 p. m. yesterday while playing in the street with her three-year-old brother, Tony, and Patsy Spencer, 4. Daugherty said Earl Perry, 19, in whose home the body was found, told him he had given the three youngsters a penny apiece to get some candy. Tony and the other boy reached a nearby store, Theresa never did.

Grossome Discovery

A few hours later scores joined in the search for the missing girl, Perry among them. Constable Jack Snyder said Perry showed him some fine beads, said they belonged to Theresa and declared:

"I might be able to find her." The gruesome discovery was made shortly after 1 a. m. by Nicholas Perry, Earl's father. He first saw one of the child's hands sticking out of some dirt. Later he collapsed.

Friend of Family

Adolph Williams, father of Theresa, and seven other children, the old-timers gathered here today to seek a means of getting their 25 counties out of the eastern gasoline rationing zone and into the four-gallon-per-coupon area.

The conference, called by the mayors of Meadville, Erie and Bradford, was precipitated by a recent OPA proposal to remove four Mercer county towns from the eastern zone where coupons are worth only a gallon and a half a week.

NO EXTRA COST TO U.S. FROM STABILIZATION

Washington, April 7 (AP)—It apparently would cost this government nothing extra to participate in a postwar gold currency stabilization program evolved by the United States Treasury.

The program, which has been submitted to 37 nations for discussion, calls for a $5,000,000,000 stabilization fund to which Secretary Morgenthau says the United States would contribute about $2,000,000,000 or 40 per cent. Other nations would contribute proportionately under a specified formula.

The treasury now holds a $2,000,000,000 domestic stabilization funds which has been in operation for nine years. Should the international agency be established, it is believed the Treasury could simply switch this fund to the new world pool, thus providing the United States' ante without the necessity of extra financing.

With the projected international fund operating to stabilize currencies, Treasury officials said, the need for continuance of exchange control by individual countries would be almost entirely removed.

Stave Off Collapse

The secretary made public late yesterday details of the Treasury proposals submitted to United Nations and their associates who have been invited to send representatives here for discussions. Replies already have been received from 10 nations, Morgenthau said, and he expressed confidence that the others would soon follow. Not invited were France and the Axis powers.

Morgenthau emphasized the proposals were merely tentative, but he predicted that prompt adoption of such a program would help stave off economic collapse after the war, revive world trade and give renewed hope to countries now under Axis domination.

The text of the Treasury proposals revealed that the United States would have a veto power in the controlling board by virtue of its substantial contribution in money.

Vote Distribution

This would be accomplished under rules requiring a four-fifths vote on major decisions and limiting any one country to 25 per cent of the total vote. The votes would be apportioned on the basis of contributions and since the United States would be one of the countries qualifying for the maximum number of votes, it could block a four-fifths or 80 per cent majority on any issue.

Other major points in the Treasury proposals include:

Creation of a new monetary unit to be known as "unitas" which would be used as a bookkeeping device by the fund.

The fund would fix the value of world currencies in terms of gold and exchanges in exchange rates could be made only with the approval of the fund and "only to meet an extreme situation."

No member country could adopt new exchange control measures except to curb undesirable capital movements and then only with the fund's consent.

The fund would have power to buy and sell gold, currencies and, with their approval, securities of member countries.

Sheriff May Face Slot Machine Count

Mauch Chunk, April 7 (AP)—A Carbon county grand jury was recalled Tuesday to consider another charge—misconduct in office—against Sheriff Nathan Pollock, after having indicted him on charges of extortion, blackmail and conspiracy.

The latter charges, involving slot machine operations, also were placed against his deputy, Harold Richards, and Deputy Sheriffs Clarence Minnick and Adam Heinbach of Schuylkill county when the jury first reported yesterday.

President Judge James C. McCready, who filed the original complaint, accused the defendants of accepting money from fraternal organizations in return for allowing them to operate slot devices.

Bail for Pollock was fixed at $1,500 and for the deputies, at $500 each.

To Act Soon On Soil District Bill

Harrisburg, April 7 (AP)—The House Agricultural committee probably will act next Tuesday on a bill to repeal the 1937 statute under which local soil conservation districts have been established in Pennsylvania.

Supporters and opponents of the measure appeared at a public hearing yesterday, those in favor attacking the present soil erosion program as too expensive and the opposition "charging it was essential to agriculture."

"Everyone who appeared in favor of repeal x x x believed in and practiced soil conservation on their own farms before it was dreamed of any place else," declared Rep. P. H. Gyger (R-Chester), co-sponsor of the bill and vice chairman of the House committee.

Rep. W. R. McMillen (R-Indiana), another committee member, suggested employment by the state of 15 or 20 conservation specialists to work with county farm agents as a substitution for the present erosion program.

WLB TO HANDLE COAL WAGE TILT

New York, April 7 (AP)—Southern bituminous coal operators assert that they plan to make a direct request for War Labor Board intervention in their wage dispute with the United Mine Workers if Dr. John R. Steelman, U. S. Conciliation Service head, is unable to certify the matter.

This announcement was made yesterday through their spokesman, Former Senator Edward R. Burke, president of the Southern Coal Producers association, who declared: "It has been the desire of the operators and still is to negotiate and endeavor to reach an agreement on all demands that can be negotiated within the stabilization program established by the government."

"It is because we feel that some of the major demands are outside and beyond that stabilization program that we insist that those matters must be referred to the agency that is enforcing the stabilization program."

Burke said the southern operators asked Dr. Steelman to certify the dispute to the WLB and also told him if he was unable to take such a step that they "proposed to request the War Labor Board to take jurisdiction directly." He added that the operators made it clear that they expected Dr. Steelman to act promptly on their request.

General Douglas MacArthur's Headquarters announced today that Allied warplanes pounded at least 10 Japanese bases in sweeps over the islands above Australia, but the enemy continued to mass warships and merchant vessels in the vicinity of Kavieng despite a violent three-day pounding. ## FATE OF PAROLE SYSTEM RESTS IN CAUCUS UNIT

Harrisburg, April 7 (AP)—A Senate Republican caucus today clothed in secrecy a sub-committee struggling to decide the fate of Pennsylvania's nine-month-old parole system.

An administration leader disclosed at the same time that the GOP majority is considering retaining most of the present setup but substituting a three-member board for the present five-member group.

The Senate put off action on a controversial bill to rip out the parole board pending action by the sub-committee. Senator H. Jerome Jaspas (D-Philadelphia) is sponsoring the ripper in a move to restore parole powers to the state Pardon board and county courts.

"Non-Partisan Parole"

Senator John F. Cox (D-Allentown), who seeks to retain the present system with any changes needed, sought to pry identity of the caucus committee from Republicans on the floor.

Offering to give Cox the names privately, Senator John M. Walker (R-Allentown), refused to disclose identity of members publicly to relieve them "of the stress and strain of pressure groups."

Cox opposed delaying a vote on the Jaspas bill, asserting it "represented a symbol" of opposition to a "non-partisan parole system."

"Seek Righteous Conclusion" Walker urged the caucus committee is "earnestly seeking a righteous conclusion" and wished to assemble all the information possible before Senate action on the matter.

The sub-committee, said Republican leader Weldon B. Heyburn, had not decided whether to pass or defeat the Jaspas bill or to amend the existing act.

Jaspas claimed the parole system is expensive and inefficient. Governor Martin, cutting the board's requested appropriation for the next two years from $1,650,000 to $1,000,000, suggested the Legislature look into the possibility of eliminating some of the board's jurisdiction.

WAGE RAISE APPROVED

Philadelphia, April 7 (AP)—Increases of five to 15 cents an hour in the maximum wage rates of 453 employees of the Elliott company, Ridgway, Pa., were approved by the regional War Labor board yesterday. The rates are retroactive to November 1, 1942, and in most cases bring the scales up to a par with those paid at the company's larger plant at Jeannette, Pa. The company manufactures equipment for the Navy and merchant marine.

County Farmers

town to see a show or otherwise enjoy themselves.

While the farmers worried about the thousands of helpers necessary to take care of the planned increase in farm production, the U.S. and War Board looked to the women of the county to give much of the help.

The 16 to 18 year olds who last year were the most numerous of the helpers in the harvest will not be present this year, War Board officials stated. The youths are being called up by the armed forces and the high school boys who are under induction age can make more money in nearby industries than they can on the farms.

Canners Need Help

The canners of the county, the War Board feels, will have the greatest difficulty in finding help because there are many jobs in the canneries that cannot be done by women. The women however can help with the harvests of most crops just as well as men, War Board officials felt.

Just how many persons will be required to take care of the farmers' needs will be revealed with the completion of a tabulation of the requests contained in the questionnaires. Each farmer in filling out his questionnaire indicates the number of persons working on his farm and the help needed during 1942.

Last year 2,680 acres of crops were destroyed by one blight or another. Most of the failure was due to the wet weather.

Lose Some Wheat

Already this year 115 acres of winter wheat in the county has been plowed under, as unfit for use.

Results of the survey show there are 121,315 acres of cropland, 7,872 acres of plowable pasture and 9,407 acres of orchards in the county. The total farmland is 163,940.1 acres.

Farmers are planning to put out more corn for grain, 29,435 acres to 26,238 last year and more of all other types of corn, except sweet, increasing the acreage from 2,200.4 to 2,289.5. Fewer farmers are planting wheat, with the acreage dropping from 20,171.7 to 20,160.5. Oats acreage will be increased from 8,060.1 to 10,160.4. While the barley acreage has been dropped from 6,065.5 to 5,503.7. Rye acreage has been reduced from 1,550.5 to 898.5.

Buckwheat will be increased from 126.5 acres to 145.3. Tobacco has always been a very minor crop in the county, but this year it will be even less. The acreage devoted to tobacco last year was 22.2; this year it is being dropped to 9.3 to make room for more needed crops.

Other Changes

About 200 additional acres will be put into soybeans this year, jumping from 1,358.1 to 1,554.7. Alfalfa hay is increasing from 1,446.6 acres to 1,603.7. Other hays, needed to feed livestock will be given 36,937.5 acres this year. Last year 35,444.1 acres were devoted to the hays.

Truck patches will be increased, the survey shows. Where last year 3,667.5 acres were devoted to growing truck products for canning, this year the countians plan to can foods grown on 4,953.2 acres. More acreage will be devoted to growing crops for market, jumping from 747.7 last year to 924.4 this year. More acreage will be devoted this year to vegetables multi-cropped, increasing from 289.4 acres to 306.5.

The county will also raise more livestock during the coming year, although the number of dairy cows and heifers will be slightly less.

HORSE PRAIRIE BY CLEM COLT

YESTERDAY: Tubac Jones, squatting on the Holeman grant, is warned by the Stampede Hog and Cattle company that he'll run into trouble if he doesn't get off. Tubac, who knows his legal rights, tells the shady syndicate he intends to see the trouble through.

Chapter 2

There was a steely glint in Tubac Jones' eyes and he banged the desk with a big-knuckled fist. "Don't anybody get any hangin' ideas that ain't afraid of gettin' hurt himself. I come into this hog waller gentle as Mary's lamb. I've known about this Holeman grant; six years I been watchin' in that grass come belly-high to a full grown hoss, an' nary one hoss to eat it! So I says, by jinks, I'll fair to that place, an' over I come without a care in the world."

"If gall was dollars—" "Never mind antagonizin' me—I'm plumb riled up a'ready—an' good reason fer bein' so! No sooner do I get settled cozy than up comes this range-hoggin' Deckerman an' starts throwin' cattle onto my graze like a country kid heavin' corn to a grist mill."

"You hadn't no right to go stringin' fence—"

"Who says so?" Jones glowered at Haines with such intensity the banker made haste to put the desk between them. "Who says so? I got a sight more right on that grant than Deckerman—or anyone else if it comes to that!"

"That's a lie!" Deckerman surged forward angrily doubling his fists. "The Stampede Hog—"

"I'll stamped your hogs if you don't git the dang critters off'n it!" Jones blared. "You're so good at servin' warnin's—here's one you can play on your mouth harp: Startin' tomorrow mornin' I aim to salivate any stray stock I catch on the place! Go smoke that with your chawin' terbacca!"

They were all on their feet now, glaring, hands flisted, hate and turbulence savaging their cheeks, when the door was flung open and a scar-faced man strode in silently and shut the door.

"Eek!" Banker Haines shrieked squeakily: "I demand you arrest this man immediate! This instant!"

The newcomer looked at Jones mildly. "What's the charge?"

"Charge! Great jugs of Bacchus! Did you say what charge?"

Lot Deckerman said, "You get him under lock an' key. We'll figger out the charges later—"

But Haines had dragged a pistol from his pocket and, bolstered by the sheriff's presence, was waving it wildly in the direction of Jones. "Put your bracelets on him! Put 'em on 'im, I say! Right now, if you want this bank to back your election! I'll give you all the charges you want—illegal entry, threats an' intimidation."

"Just a minute," the sheriff said, "Let's take this in order. Now, illegal entry—"

Father Divine Buys New "Heaven"

Reading, Pa., April 7 (AP)—Sunset Hall in the swank Wernersville mountain resort area is being acquired by Father Divine for another "heaven."

Walter G. Heim, head of the real estate department of the Berks County Trust company, said the negro cult leader would take over the establishment with the formal signing of papers in Philadelphia today.

The purchase price is $35,000, Heim said.

The new "heaven" is near such other resorts as Galen Hall, South Mountain Manor, Bynden Wood and Grand View, all on South Mountain ridge, once a summer haven for wealthy New Yorkers who induced in a wastebasket.

"No more of that!" the sheriff warned sternly, and Haines wagged his pistol dangerously. "Put him in jail fore he kills somebody! I say it's your duty—"

"I know my duty!" the sheriff snapped. "Hand over that gun, Jones!"

Jones scowled, but did so. "Things has come to a pretty pass—"

"I think so myself," the sheriff said grimly. "I'm goin' to see you across the county line. If you're smart as you look you'll keep on goin'—"

Lot Deckerman said: "He'll keep going, all right!"

WIFE MURDERED
LEAVING COURT

Holidaysburg, Pa., April 7 (AP)—A few minutes after she won a court order requiring her husband to contribute to her support and that of their two children, Mrs. Mary Musto, 36, of Altoona, was shot to death yesterday on the steps of Blair county courthouse.

Police captured her husband, Michael Musto, 45, a barber, two blocks away. He will face a murder charge, said District Attorney Chester B. Wray.

A little while before, Mrs. Musto told Judge George G. Patterson that her husband, from whom she separated in 1941, had threatened her with a gun. The court warned Musto against making threats and directed him to pay his wife $30 a month.

Two shots were fired as Mrs. Musto walked down the steps and she fell mortally wounded. Police pursued Musto through the borough's main streets, firing as they went, until he threw down his gun and surrendered. At the sheriff's office, he burst into tears.

Child Care Bill
Reaches Senate

Harrisburg, April 7 (AP)—The Senate today received the controversial House-approved bill authorizing the State Defense Council to set up and supervise child care centers in Pennsylvania.

Democrats, who fought the measure from the time it was reported from committee last week, joined with Republicans in passing the bill in the House by a 197-4 vote after Minority Leader Reuben E. Cohen said that the Democratic minority "cannot afford" to oppose "even a petty approach" to the child care problem.

The measure would authorize the Defense Council to set up centers for the care of children less than 14 years old whose mothers are employed in war industry.

Science Uses Oil
Trap And Electrons
To Cut Machine Waste

Pittsburgh, April 7 (AP)—Science now is using electrons in an oil "trap" to catch oil mist rising from high-speed grinding machines and convert it into an asset.

A description of the new device was given at the eighth annual Machine Tool Electrification forum yesterday by E. H. R. Pegg of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Pegg explained the flying oil had become a serious problem in war-busy factories, where hundreds of grinders are housed in one building. It settled over the building and equipment.

Through use of a "precipitron," a machine about the size of a floor-model radio, the oil now is reclaimed—so fast that Pegg said five gallons of oil has been recovered in a day at a single grinder.

The precipitron shoots a tiny electrical charge into each speck of oil in the rising mist. A fan sucks the air into the machine. The specks are caught on oppositely charged metal plates and drained into a container.

SOLDIER IS SAFE

Pittsburgh, April 7 (AP)—The Army's three-day-old nation-wide hunt for a soldier feared bitten by a rabid dog ended Monday when he reported to the city's health office and was found to be unharmed.

MAXIMUM LOAD
LIMIT BILL ON
TRUCKS STUDIED

Harrisburg, April 7 (AP)—Legislation boosting maximum load limits for trucks—one of the most controversial issues of the 1941 assembly session—advanced to the Senate today with its effectiveness restricted to the duration of the war.

The House approved 124 to 62 a measure by Reps. Lloyd H. Wood (R-Montgomery) and Felix Bentzel (D-York) increasing permissible weights from 39,000 to 45,000 despite charges of opponents that highways would suffer from the added burden.

The Pennsylvania Motor Truck association is backing the bill on the claim that present weight restrictions cause unnecessary waste of transportation vitally needed for the war effort. The measure permits various types of trucks to carry from one-half to three tons more than at present.

The 1941 Legislature put through a proposal to boost maximum weights from 39,000 to 42,000 pounds but former Governor Arthur H. James vetoed the bill with the assertion "it is clear that the highways of this commonwealth are not sufficiently strong to accommodate any increase."

State Is "Bottleneck"

Herbert G. Gates (R-Armstrong), opposing the new plan, told the House "the real reason back of this bill is to increase the size of large trucks * * * which eventually would cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania hundreds of millions of dollars in damage to highways."

Wood declared surrounding states have limits much in excess of those in Pennsylvania and asserted the commonwealth is a "transportation bottleneck." Bentzel insisted the measure would help expedite movement of war materials.

Rep. Homer S. Brown (D-Allentown) succeeded in tacking on an amendment making the added weight effective only for the duration, declaring this test period would demonstrate if trucks carrying heavier loads would damage roads.

HONOR ARMY OFFICER

Washington, April 7 (AP)—An Army transport ship will be named for the late Maj. Gen. William Abram Mann, Altoona, Pa., native, Representative Van Zandt (R-Pa.) announced Monday night. Van Zandt said the War department told him the craft will be launched in July at an east coast shipyard. Mann was a son of the late Charles Joseph Mann, one-time Altoona mayor and Blair county judge.

These three men, members of the first torpedo boat squadron to be based in the Solomons, were in San Francisco on their first leave from active duty in a year. They are Lieutenants Robert L. Searles, Leonia, N. J. (left) and Leonard A. Nikolovic, Englewood, N. J. (right), enjoying breakfast as Thomas E. Kendall, of Minneapolis, Minn., prefers sleep to food.

MAYOR THANKS
WOMAN FOR HER
'FINE INFLUENCE'

Pittsburgh, April 7 (AP)—The mayor of Pittsburgh has sent a lonely southern mother heartfelt thanks for her prayers on behalf of three "homesick" Pittsburgh soldier boys at Camp Wheeler.

Mayor Cornelius D. Scully wrote, Mrs. R. A. Godfrey of Macon, Ga., among other things:

"May I take this opportunity to commend you for the fine work you are doing? I believe you have a very good influence on the boys. I can see how much they think of you and what your personal contact has meant to them."

Mayor Scully learned of Mrs. Godfrey through a letter he received signed simply "three Pittsburgh boys." They called her "an outstanding mother" and said because of her longing for her own two sons in service, one of whom had not been heard from since January, she had befriended thousands of Camp Wheeler boys.

Letters of Thanks

Mrs. Godfrey walks the streets of Macon each day, carrying a handful of little paper slips. When she meets a soldier, she gives him a slip.

Inside he finds wrapped a dim, and a message which reads: "I am praying for you to return safe. Keep this as a reminder to pray."

At Christmas, Mrs. Godfrey mailed more than 600 cards to soldiers who had written thanking her for her prayers.
